DIED AFTER DRINKING A QUART OF WHISKY.

END OF HENRY DORST'S SPREE AT VENICE.

He Hastily Swallowed the Liquor on a Companion's Offer to Pay for It.

A singular fatality occurred at 2 o'clock yesterday morning in Venice, Ill., when Henry Dorst, aged 38, dropped dead from the effects of a quart of whisky he had drunk an hour previously. Dorst was a comparative stranger in Venice. He came to that place from St.

Louis last Tuesday and obtained employment at Frank Craft's furniture moving establishment. He was a man of rather quarrelsome disposition and made few friends, so that little was known of him beyond his name. He did his work fairly well, however, and no one made any attemps to find out anything about him. He was also addicted to drinking rather heavfly, and it was this habit which led to his In company with two fellow-employes from Craft's place he started out Saturday evening to stroll about town. Dorst began drinking early in the evening. By 11 o'clock he was in an ugly mood and was just drunk enough to make offensive remarks to any one disputing with him. Dorst attempted to walk home. His condition was noticed by a man named Schootz, who had started out with him earlier in the evening, and he steered the man in the direction of his place of employment.

Dorst reached home about 2 o'clock and started to go back to his room, which is in a barn in the rear of the Craft residence. He made so much noise while massing.

Tampico, Mexico.

A. J. Tullock of Leanvenworth, Kas., président of the Missouri Valley Bridge Company, and member of the American Society of Engineers, is at the Southern. Mr. Tullock is at present engaged in the construction of a pier at Tampico, Mexico, involving an expenditure on the part of that Government of over $3,000,000. The pier is about 3,800 feet long and 75 feet wide. The piles are of iron sunk sixty feet under the bottom of the guif. There are over 600 the bottom of the gulf. There are over two to be piaced in position and it necessarily requires a vast amount of time and labor. The piers are fliled with concrete and are boited together with thousands of steel trusses. When completed the pier will be trusses. When completed the pier will be the largest in the world.

Besides being a bridge builder Mr. Tullock has one "fad" to which he devotes a considerable portion of his time. It is no less than making original researches into the acquisition of the territory known as the Louisiana Purchase. He has been at it for the last fifteen years and in that it for the last fifteen years and in that time has collected a vast amount of papers and documents which relate to the purchase. In his collection are a large number of the original documents. They were procured by him at different cities along the Mississippi River and some of them came from France. Some of the most valuable of the books and documents he picked up at the old book stalls in New Orieans, while others were obtained from their possessors, who were descendants of the old French officials of the territory, in speaking of the Louisiana Purchase Mr. Tullock said last evening:

"While the country teems with histories of the Eastern States and the full details of the Eastern States and the full details of their settlement are given, the vast country west of the Mississippi, which is now by far the richest, has received scant courtesy at the hands of the historians. The history of the Eastern States is repeated time and against but we received. The history of the Eastern States is re-hashed time and again, but we rarely ever get any facts of the discovery of the great West. Why, it was only a few years ago that even our own Government Issued a map showing the Louisiana Purchase and the line drawn upon it extended clear to the Pacific Coast. Its attention was called to the mistake. All the maps that had been sent out were recalled and in the new ones issued the territorial lines were ac-curate. This only goes to show what a dearth of matter and lack of knowledge there is concerning this most valuable ac-quisition to our Government."

NOTED CROOKS ARRESTED.

Hepry Russell and Sid Yennie

Charged With Robbery. New York, April 1.-Henry Russell and Sid. Yennic, alias Henry Ferguson, who claim to be speculator and salesman respectively, have been arrested on suspicion of being connected with the robbery of Healy's restaurant at Columbus avenue and Sixty-sixth street on Monday last.

On that day a number of well-dressed men in couples went to Healy's restaurant to dine. After the meal, one of the men attracted the attention of the cashier, while another crawled into where the safe stood and stole $700. All the men had disappeared before the robbery was discovered.

stood and stole 540. All the men had disappeared before the robbery was discovered.

To-day the walters in Healy's restaurant identified Russell as one of the men, although it may not be possible for the police to fasten this robbery on either of the prisoners. The arrests were of importance, for the two men caught are well-known or fiminals and Russell is wanted as being a fugitive from fustice, being one of those who escaped from Ludlow Street Jall on the memorable night of July 4, 1856.

After escaping jail, Russell and Joe Kiloran and Charles Allen, companions in his flight from Ludlow street, went to Europe together. There the party spilt up, Kiloran and Allen Joining hands, while Russell united his fortunes with those of George Williams and Amelia Kill, two Continental criminals. Not long afterwards Russell was arrested in Belgium for robbing a post office and was sent to prison for five years. He was liberated about three months ago and came to the United States.

Sid Yennie is scarcely a less important crook thun his fellow prisoner. He has just been released from the State Prison at Columbus, O. after serving a five-year sentence for a robbery committed by him in company with George Carson, a noted burglar and sneakthief.
